Storm Preparedness and Damage Mitigation Western Long Island Sound

The natural habitat and often safest place for a boat is floating in the water. When a strong storm or Hurricane is forecast for our area, we take some extra steps to make sure boats and property are safe.

- It's a great idea to first contact your insurance company and make sure your boat policy is up to date and in effect.
- All Seasons Marine can pick up boats and bring them to safer harbor upon owners request
  - This is done on a first come first serve basis
  - Open water moorings and unprotected docks have first priority
  - All Seasons is not responsible for damage to boats during a storm either in-water or on land
  - Many local marinas and rivers are hurricane protected and boats are safer to stay where they are moored
    - Compo Marina, Norwalk Cove, Five Mile River, Saugatuck River are all well protected areas
    - We can't pick up boats if the weather is already bad.
    - We do not guarantee that a boat at our marina or on land with us will be safe or free from damage.
    - Boats can break free on moorings or docks, other boats can break free
    - On land trees can fall and boats can come off blocks, Storage yards can get flooded
  - You should check on your boat and remove anything that can catch wind, add extra lines and fenders, check batteries and run motor and bilge pump

Storm Fees

1. We charge minimum 2 hours each way ($276 Flat Fee) to pick up a boat and bring to our facility.
2. Haul and block for storm is $10 per foot
3. Launch after storm is $10 per foot (Or you can choose to put the boat into winter storage and not get charged to re-launch)
4. Keep boat at our dock or mooring (if available, space is very limited) is $14 per foot
